About me
Who I am
Nice to meet you, I'm Bruna. I am originally from Sao Paulo - Brazil, but I've been living in Brisbane - Australia since 2016 and loving it.
In 2011 started uni, I studied Systems Development and graduated in 2014, but I never had a coding job before, I have always worked for IT companies though. When I decided to move countries I also had to start my career from scratch, I worked as a Barista, then for a long time I was part of the customer service team at a wholesaler.
In 2020 when the world changed, I decided to change as well, I realised it was about time to get

Things I love ❤️

I love learning new things, 📚 having new experiences and meeting new people, definetely not afraid of what is NEW.

Love listening to podcasts specially ones about science and technology, I'm a big fan of Youtube and also love TV series 📺 (love a good Netflix and chill vibe).

LOVE travelling ✈️ and hope we'll be allowed to do this again very soon, so I can tick a few more places of my list.

I also found a new hobby: cooking everything from scratch and eating my creations, specially after adopting a plant-based lifestyle 🌱 I've been having so much fun exploring this world.

Technologies I know 💻

Some of the technologies I've been experimenting with

I've been working, learning and have fun building professional and personal projects using HTML, CSS, Jasvascript. Exploring the infinity world of Bootstrap. More recently I started working with C# building MVC ASP.NET web applications. And learning something new every day.
